20 Multiple-Choice Quiz Questions MRS100

1. You have been given the assignment topic:

What is the basic definition of health, and what is the definition of disability? Explain how these might affect the role of the medical radiation science practitioner.

What are the key concepts in this essay question?

a. Definition of health, definition of disability

b. Explain

c. Role of medical radiation science practitioner

d. Definition of health, definition of disability, medical radiation science practitioner

2. You have been given the assignment topic:

What is clinical reasoning, and what is evidence based practice? Describe these in the context of medical radiation science practice.

What are the qualifying words and phrases in this essay question?

a. Context of medical radiation science practice

b. Clinical reasoning, evidence based practice

c. Describe

d. Clinical reasoning, evidence based practice, context of medical radiation science

3. What are the advantages of performing a topic analysis?

a. Both C and D

b. Identifies if resources are peer-reviewed

c. Helps to provide a starting point for finding resources and information

d. Identifies the key concepts you are being asked to research

4. Which reference below is correctly constructed in APA 6th format?

5. Which reference below is correctly constructed in APA 6th format?

6. What are the main benefits of using books and ebooks for academic assignments?

a. They provide an overview on a topic

b. To find the most up-to-date information on a topic

c. A and B

d. Guaranteed source of peer-reviewed information

7. What can Primo Search be used for?

a. Finding books on your topic

b. Providing a more focused search than library journal databases

c. Provides a more focused search than the web

d. A and C

8. To search for a journal article in Primo Search you would:

a. Type the journal title into Primo Search and limit to articles

b. Type the journal title into Primo Search and click on 'Subject Reserve’
c. Type the journal title into Primo Search and click on ‘Books, Journals, DVDs and more’

d. Type the article title into Primo Search and limit to ‘articles’

9. To get more relevant results when searching Primo Search you can:
   a. Use more keywords
   b. Limit by date range
   c. Limit by topic
   d. All of the above

10. Google Scholar:
   a. Is the same as using Google but faster
   b. Is the same as using the library journal databases
   c. Provides all free material
   d. Allow you to set your preferences to search CSU Library databases

11. Journal databases are a good source of:
   a. eBooks
   b. Scholarly articles
   c. Books
   d. Magazines

12. Subject-specific journal databases, such as the Medical Radiation Science journal databases, will return:
   a. More articles than Google
   b. More articles than Primo Search
   c. More subject-specific articles than Primo Search
   d. More expensive articles than Google Scholar 13. How do you tell if a journal article comes from a scholarly source rather than a popular one?
   a. It has copyright information at the bottom of the page
   b. It has a reference list
   c. It uses simple language
   d. Both B and C

14. When evaluating information, authority refers to:
   a. The credentials of the author to write on the topic
   b. Who peer reviewed the journal
   c. The product the author is trying to sell
   d. The editors of the journal

15. What are the Elements of the CRAP test?
   a. Credibility, Reliability, Authorship, Purpose/Point of View
   b. Currency, Reliability, Authority, Purpose/Point of View
   c. Currency, Relatability, Authority, Purpose/Point of View
   d. Currency, Reliability, Authority, Preparation

16. Why is it important to evaluate the quality of the information you find before using it in your assessments?
   a. It may contain spelling errors
   b. The information you’ve found may be old and out of date
   c. The author may not actually be an expert in their field
   d. B and C

17. When is it acceptable to use Wikipedia in a university assignment?
   a. To provide a broad understanding of a topic without using it as a source of information within an assignment
b. To obtain links to potentially useful scholarly journal articles from the reference list

c. A and B

d. You shouldn’t use Wikipedia at all

18. What is one criterion you should not use when evaluating the quality of a website and determining if it is acceptable to use as a source in your assignment?

a. Whether or not the website has .com, .org, .edu or .asn in the domain name

b. The author’s affiliations are clear

c. Whether or not references are provided

d. The website is professionally designed

19. Why is referencing important?

a. It shows you are using peer-reviewed material

b. It helps you to avoid plagiarism

c. It shows you know how to use research journal articles

d. It shows you know how to use Primo Search

20. The usual format style required for referencing at CSU is:

a. Harvard

b. Chicago

c. APA 6th

d. Endnote